FUNKY CHICKEN CLASS

FOR NON-STANDARD BIRDS ONLY

The VPBA is excited to again offer the non-standard Funky Chicken class for fun

Funky Chicken Entry Rules:

- Exhibitors may enter as many birds as you want under Funky Chickens
- Funky Chickens MUST NOT be an ABA/APA to standard specimen
- If your Funky Chicken is a Standard bird, it will be immediately disqualified
- Birds must be in good health. Blind or physically deformed are disqualified
- Entered under their PET NAME (not breed name/info)
- Live Funky Chickens still must meet ALL testing requirements of the state of VA like any and all other live birds participating in the overall poultry show

So what Funky Chickens do you have to enter?

Whether it is a project your are working on or someone snuck over the fence, you can participate in the show and have a great time with the rest of us and get experience.

Any non-standard bird could win.

Let me tell you about Cliff & Phylis Hawkes of Maine. Their primary flocks were Golden Sebrights and Black Old English game bantams. Once they had one cockerel cross between the two breeds that resulted in the cockerel having the type of a Sebright but had the rich black plumage of the OEGB and aptly named this handsome boy “The Licorice Kid”. Wouldn’t you know it was “The Licorice Kid” that won Champion Non-Standard many years ago at one of the first shows that did the non-standard class.

Judging: All One Group; Entries will be judged on originality & uniqueness
Awards: Rosettes to top 1st, 2nd, 3rd

JOIN THE FUN - CHECK OUT THE FUNKY CHICKENS!
